

CITY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Foss are the parents of a son, born Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Turett are the parents of a son, born Tuesday morning.

Mr. W. F. Ferguson died Saturday at his home, 77 North Union street, and was buried at the city cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Allen of 132 North Champlain street are the parents of a son, born Sunday morning.

The will of J. E. White, late of Burlington, was filed for probate at the probate office in this city Saturday.

Word was received yesterday in Burlington of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. James J. Madden of Brookton, Mass.

News has been received of the birth of a daughter Monday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dow of New Haven, Conn., formerly of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin, Jr., are the parents of a son, born Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. McLaughlin's parents on South Winslow avenue.

The furniture, fixtures and other personal property in the barber shop of Henry Ward on Church street were attached by Deputy Sheriff Henry Todd Monday on a writ in favor of James B. Henderson, who owns the building.

In probate court Monday William M. Dean of Charlotte was appointed administrator of the estate of Edna I. Dickford, late of Huntington, with George M. Norton and James S. Sweet of Huntington commissioners and appraisers.

Cards have been received in town announcing the marriage of Raymond W. Percival, formerly of Burlington, to Miss Marie Fisk of Butler, Mo. Their home will be in Cole Camp, Benton county, Mo., where Mr. Percival has a stock farm.

Charles A. Reuss has become associated with Dr. Gilbert Rist in the Gilbert Rist Optical company and will do refracting and general optical work. Mr. Reuss has had eight years' experience with Dr. Rist previous to becoming connected with the company.

John C. Marrinan, who was nominated as an alderman candidate from the fifth ward at the democratic caucus of that ward last week Monday night, has filed papers withdrawing his name. Thursday was the last day on which withdrawals could be filed.

In probate court yesterday the will of Gilbert A. Arnold, late of Burlington, was filed for probate and the will of Juliette Crane, late of Williston, was proved. In the latter estate Charles D. Warren was appointed executor, and E. W. J. Hawkins and S. J. Beatty were appointed commissioners.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Taylor left last evening for a three months' stay at Saratoga Lake, N. Y. Their apartment at 38 South Union street will be occupied with Mrs. Lacy H. Taylor by Mrs. Sophie H. Harmon and daughter, Miss Janet McPherson, of Shelburne, who came to Burlington yesterday.

The writ of attachment on property belonging to Ashley Hoag of this city was filed at the city clerk's office Monday morning in the case of Thomas Stanton against Ashley Hoag. The case is returnable at Grand Isle county court and involves the Farme Derway farm near the mouth of the Winslow river.

The Vermont branch of the Railway Mail Clerks' association held a meeting at the Armory Sunday, which was the day the ballots, cast by mail, were to have been counted. There was not a quorum at the meeting so the counting of the ballots was left until next month's meeting March 20.

Miss Rita Begins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Begins of 4 Crossley street, and George J. Begins of 8 Maple street were married at seven o'clock Monday morning at St. Joseph's Church by the Rev. J. M. Clonney. The couple were attended by their fathers, Alphonse Perias and George Begins.

The divorce suit of Mary M. Hubbell against Peter W. Hubbell was filed at the office of the clerk of county court Saturday. The parties were married in Massachusetts and the petition claims refusal to support, adultery and desertion. The divorce case of Napoleon Brissette of this city against Mary P. Brissette has also been filed.

Alvin M. Aseltine has been elected delegate by the local Methodist Church to the lay electoral conference, which is to meet at Saratoga, Byron N. Clark of the Y. M. C. A. is the alternate delegate. The name of Mr. Aseltine will go before the conference as a candidate for delegate to the general conference from the Burlington district.

The marriage of Frederick E. Collison, formerly of this city and now of Montpelier, and Miss Katherine Murray of New York, formerly of Burlington, took place Saturday morning at six o'clock at St. Patrick's chapel. The Rev. J. P. Gillis performed the ceremony. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. George A. Collison.

Secretary of State Guy W. Bailey and Walter H. Crockett of the State's public department held the executive committee of the Vermont Hotel Men's association in this city Thursday and discussed matters relating to the hotel men's association. The hotel men will publish a booklet setting forth some of the attractions which the State has to offer as a summer resort.

A. A. Tiffany, who was nominated at the eighth ward republican caucus for alderman from that ward, Thursday filed papers of withdrawal as a candidate. This leaves the contest to be waged between J. Landley Hall, who filed his nomination on the republican ticket, and E. J. Walker, who filed nomination papers on an independent ticket and was endorsed by the democratic caucus.

Owing to the necessity of giving his entire time and attention to his New England bakery, D. J. McMahon has decided to discontinue the restaurant business at the corner of Church and College streets. He has disposed of his lease, and the Palace Cafe was closed to the public business Saturday night. The stock and fixtures will be disposed of at private sale during the next few days, previous to occupancy by a new tenant with an entirely different line of goods.

The marriage of Mrs. Julia Ficht of 15 Buell street and Fred W. Cadden of 114 Buell street took place Monday morning at St. Mary's rectory. The Rev. J. P. Gillis performed the ceremony. They were attended by A. G. Mahan, in whose jewelry store Mr. Cadden is head salesman and engraver. The bride is the widow of Maurice Ficht, a well known French teacher. Mr. and Mrs. Cadden left on the noon train for a trip to New York, where they will spend a week. On their return they will reside at 115 Buell street.

The following officers of Cathedral Court, No. 562, C. O. E. were installed Thursday evening by D. H. C. R. Frank

CATARRH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarrh is as much a blood disease as scrofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It breaks down the general health, weakens the lung tissues, and leads to consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla is so successful in the treatment of catarrh that it is known as the best remedy for this disease. It purifies the blood. Ask your druggist for it.

W. Sault of St. Albans: Chief ranger, Thomas A. Delany; vice-chief ranger, John J. Cross; past chief ranger, C. R. Gossett; financial secretary, George H. Marston; recording secretary, James A. Hale; treasurer, Edward B. Corley; trustee for three years, J. S. O'Brien.

Two cases in which the Old Bee Hive of this city appears as the plaintiff and John E. McConnell as the defendant have been filed at the office of C. J. Russell, clerk of Chittenden county court. One involves $2,000 for a note given on stock of the Old Bee Hive and the other suit is for $5,000 which the plaintiff claims is an account due from the defendant. The goods, furniture and fixtures at the Celeste, the store recently purchased by Mr. McConnell, and fifty shares of Old Bee Hive stock have been attached.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

Paul D. Kelley, one of Burlington's foremost grocers, who has been in business for the past twenty years at 128 Church street, has leased the premises at the corner of College and Church streets, formerly occupied by D. J. McMahon's Palace Cafe, and will move his store there on March 10.

SPORTSMEN IN CONVENTION

Meeting Held under Auspices of Fish and Game League.

Addresses, Illustrated Talks and Discussions Will Busy Day, with Business Session and Banquet in Evening.

The third annual sportsmen's convention, under the auspices of the Fish and Game League, in this city, Tuesday and yesterday, will be remembered as one of the most successful ever held by the organization. While the attendance at the convention was not as large as others held in the history of the league, from an educational standpoint there were several noteworthy speakers on the conservation and propagation of fish, bird and animal life. The session at the Strong theatre in the afternoon was attended by a large percentage of the children of the public schools, and the motion picture reels added much to the unusually instructive lectures. The reels of William L. Finley, State biologist of Oregon, were little short of marvelous. At the annual business meeting in the evening John W. Titcomb was re-elected president and the banquet was attended by great success.

The morning session was opened on the roof of the Hotel Vermont at eleven o'clock, following an informal discussion by the warden and the general public. W. L. Finley of the United States biological survey at Washington, D. C., gave an interesting address of the work of the survey, touching especially on the relation of the work relative to the protection of bird life.

The biological survey, he said, is, broadly speaking, concerned with the relation of the birds and mammals to the people of the United States. The survey studies the distribution and migration, the habits, food and economic value of these animals, and takes action to secure the preservation of useful species and the destruction of injurious ones. The work is carried on along four main lines: investigation of the food habits of North American birds and mammals in relation to agriculture, biological investigations with special reference to the geographic distribution of native animals and plants, supervision of national bird and mammal reservations, the preservation of the native wild game, and the enforcement of the laws regulating the importation of birds and mammals.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.

At a hearing held before Judge W. W. Miles at the county court house Saturday morning a temporary injunction served on John E. McConnell last week on petition of the Old Bee Hive was made permanent. The case involves a book used by Mr. McConnell while he was managing the ready-to-wear department of the Old Bee Hive, it being claimed by the plaintiff that the book contained material that was not his property. The court found in favor of the plaintiff and the injunction was made permanent.